Global Detroit and Data Driven Detroit have joined forces and released a report detailing the distribution of immigrants in Southeast Michigan. Co-Author and Researcher at Global Detroit, John Cruz, alongside Co-Author and Director of Data Driven Detroit, Kurt Metzger, talk about the report on foreign-born populations in the greater Detroit area. The report also has detailed maps that breaks down immigrant population county by county. One hope is that organizations, businesses, and the local governments will be able to better interact with the foreign-born populations in the communities.

Global Detroit has started a Tumblr site that gives immigrants the opportunity to tell their own stories.
